Stefany Shaheen always fights for New Hampshire:

Stefany Shaheen doesn’t take money from corporate PACs. And unlike others in this race, she didn’t take money from a Trump ICE contractor helping fill detention centers, or the Jeff Bezos family super PAC eyeing New Hampshire for big data centers.

The people of New Hampshire are powering Stefany Shaheen’s campaign. More than 3,200 Granite Staters have contributed — a full three times more than any other candidate.

Stefany is outraged by Donald Trump’s corruption and profiteering off the White House, the violence ICE is inflicting on American citizens, and the big drug and insurance companies denying people health care and ripping off working families. She’ll take them on to fight for Granite Staters.

The people of the First District need a congresswoman fighting for them, not the same big corporate interests and billionaires that backed Donald Trump.

News reports and FEC records show Maura Sullivan pulled in more money from AIPAC donors – \$300,000 – than she raised from people in New Hampshire.

Maura Sullivan isn’t being honest with voters. 90% of her campaign money comes from out of state. She’s backed by Trump’s ICE contractor Palantir, has a secret bundling arrangement with AIPAC, and even got $380,000 in ads from a Bezos family SuperPAC.

When voters get the facts about outside special interests funding Maura Sullivan’s campaign, they know that’s who she works for, not New Hampshire.
